

A message from David Clelland

Dear elector,

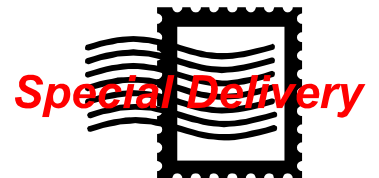

Here we are again. Another general election and your chance to hold me, and the government to account. I was born and raised in this constituency and therefore could not be more 'representative' of the people of Tyne Bridge. I have held regular advice surgeries on both sides of the river and dealt with thousands of individual issues for constituents. I've spoken up in Parliament for the people of Tyne Bridge and the wider North East and worked with schools, businesses, local councils and voluntary organisations to try to improve life for all our citizens.

The work is never done however, and although things have got much better generally under our Labour government, there are still many improvements to make and difficult issues to tackle. Continued improvements in education, health, pensions, housing, environment etc are very much on the agenda for a third term Labour government and, with your support, improvements will be made in all these areas and more. Thank you for your support in the past - I hope I can rely on your support once again in the election on May 5th.

Yours sincerely, David Clelland
